

Advanced Simulation in Health Professions Education

UWA's Health Professions Education division is offering a two-day workshop on Advanced Simulation in Health Professions Education. This workshop enables the practical application of immersive simulation techniques across a variety of health professional settings. Students apply the theoretical basis, design, planning, implementation and evaluation processes related to advanced simulation settings.

Completion of the course and associated assessment will enable participants to apply for 6 points of credit towards a postgraduate course in Health Professions Education.
